Burned

Synopsis

Another shockingly suspenseful installment in #1 New York Times best-selling author Karen Marie Moning's Fever series. Burned picks up right where the surprising conclusion of Iced left off, and will feature beloved characters Mac and Dani O'Malley as they embark on another high-octane adventure in the Fever world.

Customer Reviews

I'm honestly not sure how Karen restrains herself with the fact she focused on Mac's and Barron's mind more than their bodies on this one--allowing us a deeper glimpse into a lot of how the Nine operate. She also knows how to drop bombshells but then at the same time focus time on all her characters. She craftily weaves in and out sharing sex, action, adventure--the series gets stronger and stronger. I've been away for a couple of years but just read "Iced" and "Burned" in a matter of two weeks. Going to go pick up "Feverborn" in a few days and can't wait until the finale in January. Thank you Karen. As I said on Twitter I was 16 when I started reading this series, now at almost 24, the age I'm assuming Mac will be when it ends -- it's been one helluva ride! Thank you! Also thank you for helping me like Dani again because after "Shadowfever" I didn't want to read "Iced" because it was her point of view but through both books I've just read she's a favorite again. Not to many people can take a loved character, make you hate them, and then love them all over again! As an up and coming author myself you're one of the ones I look up to. Thank you --

What happened?! I want to cry right now. I waited so long for this and have looked forward to this book since Iced, and now I am extremely grouchy having finished it. KMM, I LOVE you. I ADORE you. Why have you done this to me? Your Fever series has been my absolute favorite series of all time up until now. I am going to vent, get this off my chest, then ignore that this installment ever happened and hope the next book is back on par with the other books in the series. SPOILERS AHEAD-I AM FEELING EMOTIONALLY UNSTABLE RIGHT NOW: What the hell is going on with Mac??? Why is she even more useless and vapid than the Mac in the first book of the Fever series? Why, KMM, why??? Mac came such a long way in the first 5 books and it is like her character development never happened. I am so incredibly disappointed in the portrayal of Mac in this book. I would have loved to read a book from Mac's perspective again if it was actually from Mac's POV. This is a Mac I don't recognize anymore. Certainly not the Mac that the last Fever book ended with. This Mac wasn't even as brave or determined as the Mac in the FIRST Fever book when she was clueless and bungling around with no idea about anything going on. Why does Barrons call Mac Ms. Lane again? Their romance and sizzle is gone. Buried, 6 feet under. I wish I could unread this book because the passion and sparks between the two are missing and it is sad. I can't mentally handle it after seeing one of the most scintillating romances ever in a series develop in the first 5 Fever books. I've reread the books a gazillion times just to experience the magic again. Nothing here. Nada. Zip. Zilch. Dani. Where do I start? Iced was a pretty damn good book from Dani's POV. I wasn't in love with it right away because Dani is annoying as hell. But she is SUPPOSED to be annoying! I get it, I grew to like it. I wanted to see Dani grow up, become a fierce woman. In this book, she became a DIFFERENT woman. The polar opposite of the Dani we kinda love and kinda want to smack upside the head at the same time. All of a sudden, Dani shows up, and she's grown up and a total stick in the mud. We don't see a transformation AT ALL. For all that happens in this book (very little), the book could have been about her adventures in the silvers and it would have been much more interesting. I feel cheated out of her character development. Subplots abound. I don't care about Kat. I don't care about Jo. Sue me. I just don't. Fillers everywhere. Little plot progression. No Christian, who is a VERY interesting character, until the end. I thought Christian was one of the most intriguing characters in Iced. I wanted more of him. Barrons and Ryoden are just dudes in this book. A book about my Uncle Bob might have been more attention grabbing. Barrons is an animal. Totally beastly and sex-ay. Not in this book. He's barely around and when he is, he's flat as a board. Ryo is suddenly developing feelings? Since when? He says he isn't, denies it like crazy, but does silly things like padding Jo's ego. Ryo would never do such a thing. Never in a million years. I am totally blown away by how angry this book has made me! I don't recognize the characters anymore and basically nothing happened. I can't give it less than 3 stars though because these are such coveted characters and I want to read about them again, in recognizable form. Please KMM, I beg you to bring back the Mac and Barrons, Dani, Christian, Dancer, Ryoden, etc. that we know and love as readers. Bring back the sizzle, action, violence, fast-paced plot. All of it! I want it back! I am not giving up on you, woman.

In this book, I was tired of the characters jumping from one to another in the opening of the chapters. But besides that agitation, Karen does it again. This story is basically from Mac's view. Hilarious scenes that had me pretty much laughing out loud. Too much still untold about many characters.

The fever series is riveting. I love her characters and can't wait till I pick up the book each day. I'm reading the final book right now and am going to be devastated when the ride is over. Don't miss it!

This whole series has me enthralled! I loved reading/living through Mac's transformation from glam girl to black Mac. The story between her and Barrons was perfect and hard to top. That being said, I'm anxiously awaiting the next book because Burned has me begging for more! I have the distinct feeling that Ryodan and Jada will burn even hotter! I love the universe that Karen Marie Moning has created!!!

I have read this whole series every time a new book in the series comes out. And, several times in-between. Absolutely love this series. I was sorely disappointed by books 6 and 7 and felt like they could of been summed up in a few chapters a piece. However, Karen Marie Moning has redeemed herself with Burned. Fantastic part of the story!!!! Loved it!!! Already excited for the nest installment. Can't get enough of the characters!

To long before I pickup and continue the series. Thank you Karen Marie for placement of a definition of past novels of people, place and things. It's was a big help to jump start my memory of the past six novels. Their is so much in the six novels that brought your reads to the seven and eight novels we the readers need a refresher. Good read with lots of twists with thrills and yucky stuff such as entrails dress around a hag. Great stuff.

I really almost quit reading this series because of this book. I had loved the world of Mac & Barrons.

Iced was ok and I felt it might be possible to continue the story line featuring other characters. Burned had me hating what Mac had become. Plus, everything with Dani just felt off. However, I read Burned and then continued on to Feverborne. Feverborne was so much better!! I'm glad I read Burned only so that I knew what was happening. If you can make yourself finish this book you'll be rewarded in Feverborne.
