Fatima, The First Hundred Years: The Complete Story From Visionaries To Saints

Synopsis

“The true and complete story from Apparitions (1917) to Canonizations (2017)” And a concrete method for carrying out Our Lady’s mission On October 13th, 1917, some seventy thousand spectators in Fatima’s Cova de Iria bore witness to what Pio Scatizzi, former professor of astronomy at the Gregorian University, would describe as the “most obvious and colossal miracle of history”—the vision of the sun “dancing” in the heavens. In Fatima, the First Hundred Years, Barry R. Pearlman provides an invaluable theological and historical framework for understanding this “Miracle of the Sun,” the apparitions that preceded it, and their implications for the present day. Drawing extensively from the personal testimony of seer Lucia dos Santos and others, this book reveals the story of three young shepherd children and the “beautiful lady from Heaven” who visited them as they tended their flocks. While many books have been written concerning these events, Fatima, the First Hundred Years is unique in that it highlights an often-overlooked feature of the apparitions: the centrality of the Lady’s emphasis on her Immaculate Heart, which she described to Lucia as “your refuge and the way that will lead you to God.” By properly placing this devotion at the heart of the Fatima message, Pearlman grants his readers not only a detailed overview of the 1917 visions, but a concrete method for carrying out Our Lady’s mission in a troubled world. Newly revised to coincide with the hundredth anniversary of the apparitions, Fatima, the First Hundred Years is at once a comprehensive guide for the uninitiated and an invaluable resource for the historian, the skeptic, and the believer.

BARRY R. PEARLMAN, Ph.D., B.Th., is a Catholic apologist and writer. He was born in South Wales but grew up and was educated in Texas. He studied mathematics, social psychology, and literature at the University of Houston. Upon graduation he returned to Wales, where he met his wife Anne, and eventually moved to Australia. There he obtained his doctorate in social psychology and a degree in theology, majoring in biblical theology and exegesis. Recent publications include A Certain Faith, Year of Faith Prayer Book, and Treasure in Heaven (also published by Angelico Press). He is currently retired and lives in Wales.

This is beautifully/skillfully written and extremely informative, containing many pieces of the story that I have never found anywhere else.

Angelico Press never fails to disappoint! Fatima, The First Hundred Years is an absolute gem of a book. Published in honour of the 100th anniversary of the apparitions, it gives a concise and moving account of the testimony of the three visionaries, Jacinta, Francesco, and Lucia. This work is very inspiring, and will prove a marvelous addition to the library of anyone, Catholic or otherwise, wishing to learn more about one of the greatest Marian apparitions of our time.

Very well written with facts and scripture as support. A moving story that still applies today. A must read for people interested in Marian devotion.

Every Catholic should read this book, especially the lukewarm ones. I am not Catholic but am committed to saying the rosary daily because of mother's Mary message to us all at this holy place in Portugal!
